CHARLEROI CHAPTER, AMERICAN RED CROSS, MAKES SPLENDID SHOWING

Auditors' Report Shows How Much Money Was Received and Expended

NEW PRESIDENT IN JANUARY

A meeting of the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross was held in the public meeting room of the municipal building Tuesday evening, at which time a complete report of the activities of the organization for the past year was made. This included a report by the auditors, L. J. Mitchell, S. W. Sharpnack and C. S. Bateman, who made a thorough examination of the finances of the organization, which they reported to be in fine shape.

Owing to his removal from Charleroi, H. J. Booth, who had been the efficient President of the organization, tendered his resignation, which was respectfully accepted by the board. Mr. Booth was recognized as being an ideal official and one whose splendid administrative abilities added so much to the success of the Red Cross work in Charleroi and vicinity. No election for a successor will take place until the regular annual election which will be held next January.

It is not the purpose to discontinue the local Red Cross Association, but rather to build and strengthen it, so that it will be ready for any local emergency that may arise in the future. This feature was exemplified last fall during the flu epidemic, when the Red Cross contributed over $4,000 to the maintenance of an emergency hospital, where so many patients were cared for during the prevalence of the disease.

During "Roll Call Week," from the 2nd to the 11th of November, a campaign will be launched for members to pay their dues, that sufficient funds may be always available for emergency work which may come at any time. There are over 5,000 members in the Charleroi Chapter, and efforts will be made to have all of these renew their membership.

In their report concerning the financial activities of the Chapter the Auditors said:

"Having been employed by you to make an independent audit of the books, records, receipts and expenditures of the operations of the Charleroi Chapter, American Red Cross, since its inception of September 1st, 1919, we beg to submit herewith the following statement of receipts and expenditures, same being attached hereto and made a part of this report.

"We found all vouchers properly signed, receipted and charged to the several accounts, in proper shape and properly endorsed.

"We have also audited to receipts from the Charleroi War Chest to the Charleroi Chapter, American Red Cross, and find that $27,757.69 was received from the War Chest Fund, credited to the proper accounts, and the amount agreeing with the officers' Continued on page 5.

DONORA APPEARS TO HAVE MANY "WET" CLUBS

According to the Herald, our neighboring town of Donora appears to have a number of "wet" clubs, particularly among the foreigners. Just where they get their "hard stuff" is not known unless it is a combination of certain ingredients which seem to be easily obtainable. From the number of drunks reported in the town it looks as if the proprietors of these joints have solved the problem of producing a drink that has the necessary "kick."

COUNTRY CLUB A GO

Organization Perfected at Donora Wednesday Evening

TO ACQUIRE PROPERTY AT ONCE

A very enthusiastic meeting of promoters of the proposed country club to be established on the Vanderlicke, Haggerty and Warren farms in Carroll township was held at the Donora Real Estate company office, Donora, Wednesday evening. There were 83 prospective members present and reports received from the various towns in the district showed that already there have been sold 171 memberships in which the cash has been paid in to the treasury.

A resolution was presented and adopted which authorized the board of directors to close the option now held on the property and to acquire title to the real estate at once. It was further resolved to select a board of 14 directors, three each from Monongahela, Donora, Monessen and Charleroi, and two from Fayette City. These directors are authorized to apply for a first-class charter for an association to be known as the Monongahela Valley Country Club with $160,000 capital, divided into 500 shares of $200 each. This board of directors will serve for one year, when their successors will be elected.

Reports received from workers in the various towns in the district indicate that the full membership of 250 will be subscribed for within a very short time and that in the coming spring the Club will be launched in a most successful manner. Charleroi Chapter, American Red Cross, has pronounced the grounds as being especially well located for a golf course, while other features will make the Club one of the most popular organizations in this section of the valley.

Advise Boards Not to Defer Building on Account of Prices

As the result of a study of prices for school house building materials after the Civil War and at present, necessitated by the unusual number of plans for new construction of schools being submitted to the Department of Public Instruction, Dr. Thomas F. Finnegra, the new State Superintendent, says that he feels justified in assuring school boards and school officials generally that building operations were virtually suspended by school districts and plans being received almost daily indicate one of the largest school building years in the history of the State is at hand regardless of the prices now prevailing. Among nearby projects in contemplation is a new building for Monongahela, with a possibility that Monongahela will erect a new high school building.

DEFENDANTS WERE HELD FOR COURT

Four men, Anthony Simpson, Charles Balmer and William Brown of Allenport and William Hanel of Roscoe were arraigned before Justice Whitehead Tuesday afternoon on a charge of surety of the peace. The plaintiffs in the case were Earl B. Marshall, Charles E. Marshall and William Minehead, employees of the Allenport plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Products company. The plaintiffs alleged that on Thursday evening last while on their way home from work they were threatened by the defendants, who it was charged said they would do physical violence if the men came back to work the following day. At the hearing, Tuesday afternoon Simpson, Hanel and Balmer were held by the Justice in the sum of $500 bail each for their appearance at the next term of court, while Brown was discharged.

WIFE'S DEATH DUE TO TO HUSBAND'S NEGLIGENCE

In the death of Mrs. Mary McKee, colored, late of Monongahela, fatally injured last week at Riverview when she jumped from an automobile the coroner's jury inquiring into the woman's death found it was due to the negligence of the woman's husband, who was operating the machine. In attempting to drive the auto past an interurban car at the Riverview switch the husband of the woman drove the machine into the street car. The woman became frightened and jumped from the auto, alighting on the brick pavement and sustaining a fractured skull. She died a short time later at the Memorial hospital.

PLEADS GUILTY TO SHOOTING HUSBAND

Mrs. Amanda Harrington of West Brownsville, wife of Isaac Harrington on her plea on Monday to a charge of felonious assault, was sentenced to payment of costs. Mrs. Harrington staged a little gun play at her home several weeks ago during which her husband was shot in the back. He sustained an ugly wound and was in the hospital for a few days. The woman was arrested and placed in jail and later released on bail. The case was settled on Monday when the woman was paroled.

Reports Show That 687 Men Went from Charleroi To Do Duty

KEEP IN TOUCH WITH MEN

A feature of the meeting of the Charleroi Chapter of the American Red Cross, which was held Tuesday evening, was the report of the Home Service Work of which Miss Minnie Richardson is the executive secretary. This department of the local Red Cross kept in direct touch with the soldiers, sailors and marines both at home and abroad, and this department was compelled to handle an immense amount of work and is even yet quite busy in looking after the allotments, allowances and insurance of returned soldiers.

Miss Richardson reported that so far 846 letters have been written in connection with the request of soldiers for their allotments, allowances and insurance, while 36 certificates have been forwarded to men may receive their bonuses. There have been 106 applications for compensation and allotments also handled through this department, with others coming in almost every day for attention.

One feature of this department was the card index system of keeping tabs on soldiers and sailors from this district. By this means it was possible within a few moments to ascertain the name, company, Regiment and location of any soldier, as well as the whereabouts of any sailor or marine. According to these reports, there were 687 men from Charleroi who either volunteered or were selected for service in the various branches, either the Army, Navy or the Marines. Of this number two were commissioned as Majors, one as Captain, six as First Lieutenants and seven as Second Lieutenants, while one Red Cross nurse, Miss Marion Martin, went from Charleroi.

From California the were 348 men in all branches of the service, while from the remainder of the Red Cross district, which included Roscoe, Stockdale, Elco, Allenport, Speers and Dunlevy there were 84, certainly a fine record for any district to make.

WILLIAM FARNUM AT MAJESTIC NEXT TUESDAY

William Farnum, the famous star of the William Fox photoplays will be seen at the Majestic theatre next Tuesday in his latest production "Wolves of the Night," said to be the most powerfully dramatic picture in which this great screen star has been seen. The story is laid among the copper mines in the Northwest.

STRIKE CALL IS ISSUED

Cessation of Work May Be Averted by the Government

LEWIS GOES TO WASHINGTON

While President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers of America has issued for a suspension of work on the part of the miners in the Central competitive district, effective midnight, October 31st, it is likely that some means will be found whereby the threatened strike may be averted.

President Lewis has been summoned to Washington by Secretary of Labor Wilson, where a conference will be held in which Thomas F. Brewster of the operators association will take part. Mr. Lewis declared Wednesday night before leaving for Washington, that the only thing to prevent a strike would be an agreement which must be reached between the miners and the operators before that date. Even then such an agreement would have to be ratified by the miners' union, although it would result in the countermanding of the strike order in order to allow the miners to act.

Secretary Wilson will exert all the power of the administration to bring about an adjustment of the differences, that no strike may take place. The head of the miners' organization would make no prediction as to the outcome of the conference to be held at Washington.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Charleroi-Monessen hospital will hold a "500" in the Elks' parlors this evening. All members and lady friends are earnestly requested to be present.

Miss Emily Brenton and Mrs. Harry Reynolds of Brownsville were callers in Charleroi Wednesday.

American Institutions Are Not Crumbling== Go Back to Work.

This is no time to talk revolution. It is un-American to make a "direct drive" at American Industries and Institutions. Thousands of our boys went across the seas to stop the Hun hordes from destroying the world. Stop this movement that is here now to spread fear and starvation and strife in the land we love so dearly.

Get your job back. Be a man, faithful to your post of duty. Do your bit to help the government reduce the cost of living. Why strike when the President of the United States appealed to the leaders to hold off for an investigation.

Join the loyal workmen determined to make our industries go. The mill gates are open to welcome every man who aspires to be a good American. Go back to work.

Ameryka wezwana

To nie jest zwykły strajk. Musimy nań się patrzeć i uważać takowy za iście dyabelski zamach grupy radykałów, którzy chcą rozbić i deorganizować robotników i zaprowadzić rewolucję w tym kraju.

Czy ty wiesz w to? Przeczytaj sobie te kilka wypisów z opublikowanych artykułów Syndikalistycznych pamfletów jednego z przewodniczących tego strajku:

"Syndikalizm widzi w rządzie tylko narzędzie opresji, nieodpowiednia i niezadana administrację przemysłu i proponuje usunięcie takowego zupełnie ze społeczeństwa."

"Syndikalistyczny ruch jest radykalnie przeciwdziałający demokracji i rządowi."

"Radykalne przeciwstawienie demokracji i rządowi" — Czy jestto dosyć wyraźnie określone. Musicie pokazać to przyjacielu tak czy owak.

Nie jest to zwykły strajk — Ameryka jest wezwana do walki. Błędne patrzeć na sprawę ta nie może być wcale tolerowane. Czas obecnie przyszedł na stanowczą działalność. — Żmija radykalizmu klóradu zniweczyta Amerykańską wolność i pochloneła kraj ten w chaos któryby sprowadził podobne nieobliczone cierpienia, chłód i śmierć jak w Rosji, musi być bezwzględnie zniszczona.

AMERIKANSKOYE VOZVANIYE.

Это не есть обыкновенная забастовка. На нее надо смотреть как чертовское злое дело небольшой группы радикалов, стремящихся разорвать рабочую силу и образовать революцию в этом крае.

Вы в этом сомневаетесь? Прочитайте ниже приведенные выписки из Синдикалистического Журнала, написанные одним из вождей забастовки:

"Синдикализм видит в Правительстве орудие угнетения, не лояльного администратора индустрии и предлагает устранить его из будущего общества."

"Синдикалистическое движение есть совсем противоположное демократии и правительству."

"Совсем противоположное демократии и правительству." Это довольно ясно. Вы находитесь в положении члена забастовки. Это не есть обыкновенная забастовка. Америка получила вызов. Пассивное поведение тут не из хитрости. Теперь подошло время для окончательного агрессивного действия. Этого единственного радикализма может разорвать Америку свободу и бросить край в такой хаос, как в России и повлечь за собою неслыханные страдания, голод и смерть. До этого нельзя допустить здесь.

Американский народ не желает революции. Не нуждается в "Росских Советлах", он хочет жить американской жизнью и пользоваться покровительством Американского Правительства.

Вам не известно как Немцы разорвали фабричный промышленный во Франции, в Бельгии, в Сербии, в России и в других краях во время войны.

Не допустите же до того, чтобы Вы собственными действиями помогли Немцам выиграть индустриальную войну с Америкой, когда всемирная война уже окончена.

Поддерживайте Америку, помогайте ей в успехе и Возвращайтесь к работам.

L'America viene sfidata!

Non è questo uno sciopero ordinario — Al contrario esso dovrebbe essere considerato come il diabolico tentativo di un piccolo gruppo di rivoluzionari per portare lo scombigo nel campo del lavoro e accendere la rivoluzione in questo paese.

Ne avete qualche dubbio? Leggete i seguenti periodi estratti dagli scritti Sindacalisti di uno dei capi di questo sciopero:

"Il Sindacalista considera lo Stato come uno strumento di oppressione, un amministratore delle industrie e dovrebbe perciò essere escluso dalla futura società."

"Il movimento Sindacalista è radicalmente opposto alla Democrazia ed allo Stato."

"Radicalmente opposto alla Democrazia ed allo Stato. Non è questa espressione abbastanza chiara? Voi potrete anche affrontare la questione apertamente. Questo non è uno sciopero usuale. Questa è una sfida all'America. L'indifferenza passiva non è più possibile. È giunto il tempo per cominciare una campagna aggressiva. Questa vepa dei Radicalismo mira alla distruzione della libertà Americana e l'istituire la nazione nelle tenebre, causando sofferenze immaginabili, causando gli effetti già avuti in Russia, la fame e la morte. Per tal ragione questo movimento dovrà essere sconfitto."

Il popolo di questa Nazione non vuole la rivoluzione. Esso non vuole i Sovietti Russi. Esso vuole solo regime americano e libertà sotto la protezione del Governo americano.

Voi sapete come la Germania distrusse le industrie della Francia, del Belgio, della Serbia, della Russia, e di altre nazioni europee durante la guerra.

Fate in modo che nessun vostro atto possa aiutare la Germania a vincere sull'America questa battaglia industriale, ora che la guerra è finita.

Mantenete l'America occupata nel lavoro, fatale prospera, siate sincero Americano. Ritornate al lavoro.

Amerika je vyzvaná!

Toto nie je obyčajný strajk. Ba treba naň hľadať, ako na diabolský krok niekoľkých radikálov, chcúcich disorganizovať robotníctvo a tak siať revolúciu v tejto vlasti.

Či vy tomu neveríte? Prečítajte si týchto pár výťahov a brožúry "Syndicalist", napísanej a vydanéj jedným z vodcov tohoto strajku:

"Syndikalista vidí v štáte len instrument utlačania, tárajúceho administrátora industrie a navrhuje ho vyhnat z budúcej spoločnosti ľudskej."

"Syndikalistické hnutie je radikálne proti demokracii a štátu."

"Radikálne proti demokratizmu a štátu." Či je to dost jasné? Teda dobre bude, keď nahlídnete do situácie dobre. Toto nie je obyčajný strajk. Amerika je vyzvaná. Na toto nesmieme sa dívať nečinne. Nastala doba rozhodného činu. Tento jedovatý had radikalizmu, ktorý chce zničiť americkú slobodu a vrátiť túto vlasť do chaosu, ktorý zapríčinil neopísateľnú biedu, hlad a smrť v Rusku, musí byť porazený.

Obyčania tejto vlasti nechcú mať revolúciu. My nechceme ani počuť o vládě, akou je ruská sovietska vláda. My chceme len americký život a slobodu pod americkou vládou.

Vy znáte, ako Nemci zkazili industrie Francie, Belgicka, Srbska, Ruska a iných európskych krajín počas vojny.

Nedopustte, aby ste svojim činom pomohli Nemcovi vyhrať industriálnu vojnu proti Amerike teraz, keď je po vojne.

Držte Ameriku zamestnanou, prosperujúcou a americkou. Chodte nazad do roboty.

Amerika ki van hívva.

Ez nem közönséges sztrájk. Inkább kell ezt tekinteni a radikálisok egy kis csoportja ördögies kísérletének, melyvel akarják a munkásságot megzavarni és ebben az országban forradalmat előidézni.

Kétségbe vonja ezt? Olvassa el ezt a néhány kivonatot egy sztrájk vezető szindikalisztikus iratából.

"Szindikalista látja az államban az elnyomás eszközeit, ipar vezetésének a kontárkodását és próbálja azt jövő társadalomból kiköszöbölti."

"Szindikalista mozgalom radikálisan ellenzi a demokraciát és az államot."

"Radikálisan ellenzi a demokraciát és az államot". Elég világos az? Legjobb ha az állapot szemébe néz egyenesen. Ez nem közönséges sztrájk. Amerika ki van hívva. Tűrő nembánomosság többé nem segít. A végleges hathatós cselekedetnek az ideje megkezdett.

A radikalizmus ezen viperáját, mely megsemmisítené az amerikai szabadságot és az országot dobna zavarba, mely okozott kimondhatatlan szenvedést, éhezést és halált Oroszországban, tönkre kell tenni.

Ezen ország népe nem akar forradalmat. Nem akar orosz Sovietet. Ő akar csak amerikai életet és szabadságot amerikai kormány alatt.

Őnök tudják hogy Németország miként megdöntötte Franciaországot, Szerbia, Oroszországot és más európai országok iparát a háború alatt.

Ne engedjék, hogy hármely tettei segítségét Németországot megnyerni az ipar háborút Amerikából most, midőn vége van a háborúnak. Tartsák Amerikát tevékenységben, jóiétben és amerikalnak. Menjenek vissza a munkába.

POORLY PAID MAIL CARRIERS

Dogs That Bring News From Home to the Lonely Men in Alaska Get Little for Work.

There is a good deal of talk over the meager pay received by mail carriers, but the most poorly paid of Uncle Sam's mail carriers receive far less than the familiar postman, yet never make complaint. They get a pound and a half of dried salmon for a full day's pay.

They are the husky and the Malamute, the native Eskimo and the native Indian dogs in the great Yukon country. Without them the gold-seekers, the fur traders, the shopkeepers and the mission workers in the interior of Alaska (except for the more fortunate ones who live along the lines of the few railroads) would receive no mail from the time the ice forms over the rivers in October until it breaks up in May.

Even the most inaccessible of postoffices receive mail once a month in winter (though only one mail is carried then), and for those in the interior of Alaska the husky and the Malamute are mail carrier and Santa Claus combined. They would be without word from the outside world for eight months every year if it were not for the mail dogs.

These animals are pushed to their utmost by considerate and cruel driver alike, for there is a prescribed task for them every day, and all they get out of it is a pound and a half of dried salmon at the end of the day.

When they are not working their allowance of fish is cut down. In the summer they are fed on the refuse of fresh salmon at the fishing dumps, where the mail contractor boards them out until the rivers freeze again.

IMPORTANT PART OF BUILDING

Ceremonies More or Less Elaborate Generally Accompany Laying of Cornerstone.

The United States government puts up public buildings all over the country, and a cornerstone is customarily laid. But there is no hole in the latter unless it be requested by the local authorities, or a Masonic body desires to conduct a ceremony.

The Masons take a special interest in cornerstones. On such an occasion they appear in full regalia, and a copper box is used to hold the articles interred. The box is soldered up and placed inside the cornerstone, which is then sealed with cement.

In Europe it is a part of the business of monarchs to lay cornerstones.
In this country the services of a president are always in demand for the purpose, if obtainable. On a conspicuous corner in Washington is a cornerstone laid by Mr. Taft when he was president. It was meant for a church that remains yet unbuild.

Colonel Roosevelt, when president, laid the cornerstone of the Masonic temple in Washington. Oddly enough it was 80 feet in the air at the time of the ceremony, upheld by timbers.
The ground beneath it having been dug away to that depth. But it was necessary to grab the president while the grabbing was good.

Feeding Pigs by Machinery.

A hogmeter is not a motor-hog;
it is a pig self-feeder. Two of these ingenious inventions have been tried by the Western Australian minister for agriculture on his farm, with eminently satisfactory results.

The machine is a combination of a hopper, a grinder, and a delivery platform, which has ten divisions. The ground wheat is equally distributed by delivery chutes. The snout instinct of the pig has been requisitioned to supply the motive power, the divisions on the platform being so arranged that the animal, in trying to snout it out of the way for more feed, forces the platform round, thus grinding for itself more wheat, which falls in the next and succeeding divisions, and so on.

Ten pigs can feed at the same time.
There is no waste. The pig does not crush more than he can eat, and he cannot possibly eat more than he crushes.

What is believed to be the first clue to the reputed buried treasures of the padres of the Tumacacori mission, built by the Spanish Jesuits high up in the Tumacacori mountains, less than three hours' journey from Tucson, Ariz., has been discovered by Frank Pinkley, custodian of the ruins. It is the gateway to the mission cemetery.
From this gateway, it is said, the plans and maps left by the padres start to outline the way to the buried gold and silver.

The Tumacacori mission was built near what are believed to be the ruins of one of the Seven Cities of Cibola.
The center region is said to show evidences of rich mineral deposits, which, decide those who have inspected the mountains, doubtless led the padres to build their mission there.

Still, It's Well to Try.

What is said to be the record for resuscitation from drowning was accomplished by United States life-savers
after the victim had been submerged for six minutes. Among a great many persons the erroneous belief exists that persons can be resuscitated after having been in the water a great length of time. Cases have been known where resuscitation methods were used for hours after the drowned persons had been under water for a half-hour, or even longer. Thus it will be seen that drowning is a quick death,
and the hazard of the water correspondingly great.—Exchange.

Thousands Exterminated

Tape-Worms With Head

Thousands are suffering from tape-worm, but are treated for some other disease without getting any result.

A SURE SIGN of the presence of these parasites is: Passage of round, longitudinal or pump-kinseedlike particles or other worms.

suggestive signs are: Pale, thin, appearance, dark rings under the eyes, constipation, coated tongue, loss of appetite, with occasional greenish indigestion after taking certain food, as: Herries, Omelette, Vinegar etc., even spells of fainting with an empty stomach, appearing indolent, raising of obstruction in the throat, sour stomach, heartburn, pain stomach, head-ache, burning in ears, with ing of having a heavy moving mass in the bod-cutting pains in intestines, rumbling and wave-like movements, palpitation of the heart, exhaustion, nervousness in limbs, sediment in urine, etc.

In addition thereto, may exist sympathetic disturbances which sometimes assume a grave character, hemorrhages, menstrual irregularities, hysterical fits, choreic convulsions and even epileptic attacks.

WATCH YOUR HEALTH

The anniversary of the flu epidemic is here and the memory of our friends who passed away in that trying period, just one year ago, arise in our minds and thoughts. Come of this or that which might have prevented their deaths and left them with us to enjoy life. This affliction has taught us many lessons, among which are the realization that we need rest. One cannot work all day, be out until all hours of the night and set up and work the next day and so on, without paying the cost.

Another thing as important is that when one gets a cold he should not go on coughing and not do anything for it, but stop and consider that one's own life is at stake and at once take the proper means to get rid of the cold. Persons with colds should be very careful about going into crowds and should always have their bedrooms well ventilated. It was a failure to observe many of the smaller details one year ago which caused so many of our friends to be taken from us, and we ought to profit by the knowledge we gained in that epidemic.

WARNING TO AMERICA

When a judge of the United States Court of Appeals deems it necessary to warn applicants for naturalization against the evil teachings of men of the W. Z. Foster type and to denounce Foster himself as "a dangerous domestic enemy," it is high time for all Americans to awaken to the menace that lurks behind the radical agitator and strike promoter. Judge Joseph Buffington did this very thing in a session of the Naturalization Court at Philadelphia recently. He places less blame on the foreign-born workmen than on the native-born agitator whose only ambition is to stir up discontent, incite disrespect for the government and pave the way for anarchy and ruin.

The iron ore of Lorraine being no longer at the disposal of Germany, and the hope of owning Briey having definitely, it is hoped, passed from her, she has taken the course which should have commended itself to her many years ago: she has turned to her own soil for her needs and is meeting with success. Statistics have been issued from Cologne showing that the sinking of shafts some short distance from Coblenz has shown the presence of ore and manganese in important quantities. Other miners have been discovered to the south of Berncastel. The significant thing about all this is the rapid and energetic way in which Germany has set herself to find out how best she can best make up her losses.

At a hearing before the House Immigration Committee on Wednesday Representative Welby, (Dem.) of Ohio, urged that all aliens now in the country be required to register immediately and that undesirable ones be deported without delay. He decided that recent events at Gary and Pittsburgh indicated that the government should know the character and whereabouts of aliens in the United States. It is also well enough to know the whereabouts of these alien radicals, who are taking advantage of present conditions to stir up trouble. Manifestly it is going to be somewhat more difficult in the future for these gentry to get by with their declarations against the government than in the past.

The law recently enacted by the General Assembly of Pennsylvania provided severe penalties for stealing automobiles. Does not appear to have reduced that "industry" very materially. It may have caused a certain change in methods, but in spite of the severe penalties provided, many machines appear to be stolen from day to day. These automobile robbers seem to be very bold in their actions and only the other night at Fayette City utilized the power of a team of horses to get away with a machine. It looks as if the thing to do, when one of these gentry is taken into custody, is to give him the limit. It may not cure the others, but it will remove one active figure for a definite space of time.

The bill of Representative M. Clyde Kelly of Braddock, calling for the deportation of all aliens who withdrew their first naturalization papers at the outbreak of the war in the hope of evading military duty, is to be considered by the House Immigration Committee within a few days. Another provision in the bill would compel all aliens who came to the United States to make their home shall immediately take their first step toward becoming citizens. The present state of unrest in the United States has demonstrated that some national action along this line is extremely desirable.

The drive for the Jewish Relief Fund has been a great success in this section of Pennsylvania. While a few localities have fallen below the quota assigned, the general response has been most gratifying and will result in many millions of dollars being placed at the disposal of the American committee to look after the wants of the starving Jews in Europe and portions of Asia. While we have had our own troubles, and have been plagued by the H. C. L., yet we have sufficient to permit us to contribute liberally to this splendid cause.

It looks as near beer as a beverage for every restaurant to handle, has about reached the point where it will be "ditched." The Brooks license law still obtains in Pennsylvania, and only those who have taken out a license as required by law are entitled to dispense this brew. This may come as a shock to a large number of places which have stocked up with this drink but the powers have spoken and near beer must be confined to legitimate channels.

The Secretary of War has announced that the United States will send about 5,000 American troops to Silesia to remain during the plebiscite, just as soon as council orders. "Just as soon as council orders" means that the council of the league of nations will tell the United States when to send troops and where and how many. And yet we are told there will be no super-government—and that no more men in khaki will be sent beyond the seas.

While some criticism has been made of the rumors which have prevailed concerning the President's illness, yet there has been little if anything of an informing nature that has come to the public from his physicians as to the nature of his illness. While all sympathize in this time of incapacity, yet the importance of the patient is such that the people have a right to know a great deal more than is being given out.

Columbus' Ill Fate.
On the twentieth of May, 1506, Christopher Columbus died at Valladolid, Spain, at the age of seventy. His whole life had been devoted to exploration and discovery for the aggrandizement of Spain, yet his last years were embittered by the ingratitude shown him by the nation.

Eyeglasses.
The suggestion of the use of lenses for the cure of eye defects was made by Roger Bacon, the great scientist of the thirteenth century. The making of spectacles was carried out by Italians. Physicians of those days, however, did not know the true theory upon which they were based.

Nature's Wonderful Work.
Nature gives to every time and season some beauties of its own; and from morning to night, as from the cradle to the grave is but a succession of changes so gentle and easy that we can scarcely mark their progress. —D. C. C.

Opinion.
Opinion is divided into four parts—what we want our friends to think of us, what we think they think of us, what they do think of us, and what we think they think we think they think of us.

First Land Sale.
We should say the first land sale on record was the purchase of the field of Machpelah by Abraham, who paid 400 shekels of silver for the field in which he buried his wife.

Happiness and Interests.
Personal happiness is almost synonymous with personal interests; the wider the range of the latter the higher is the degree of happiness. —Lillian Whiting.

Plenty of Choice.
It is quite true that there are 1,031 different kinds of faiths in the world—and there are about 3,456,876 different kinds of sheer cussedness!

Moral Purpose.
The greatest work has always gone hand in hand with the most fervent moral purpose. —Sidney Lanier.

HERE BIRDS FIND SANCTUARY

Area in Delta of Yukon River, Valueless for Other Purposes, Is Now Profitably Employed.

The most important, and by far the largest, in extent, of our national "refuges" for the preservation of wild birds is a vast area in the delta of the Yukon river, proclaimed as such by an edict from the White House just ten years ago.

It is an area approximately equal to Massachusetts, and the most valuable feather species concerned are wild geese and wild ducks, which breed there in countless numbers.

There is found the proper home of the "emperor" goose, the "white-fronted" goose, and many species of ducks which are sought as game in other latitudes.

The region is known as "tundra country"—devoid of trees, swampy with many lakes, and of no possible usefulness for agriculture or any other purpose. If, however, the wildfowl are there safeguarded on their breeding grounds, it will be a permanent source of game and food supply for Alaska and the entire Pacific coast.

In order that this may come to pass, it is necessary that the birds shall be protected during the mating season against the wholesale slaughter which formerly was conducted by pot-hunters and alleged sportsmen from year to year—a method commonly adopted to drive the helpless creatures into pens built for the purpose, where they were ruthlessly murdered.

LAUGHED AT TIME'S PASSAGE

Blue Delft Saucer, Long Sunk in Ocean, Benefited by Century Immersion in Ocean.

The net of a fishing smack off Eremouth, Dorsetshire, England, brought to the top of the sea recently a long dead memory. A blue delft saucer, deeply incriminated with barnacles, lay among the flapping fish in the net, and bore a picture of one of the old British coasting and sailing vessels, with the words "Eclipse, Ldn. and Edinburgh, Shipping Coy."

Now, the Eclipse was lost at sea 108 years ago. No one survived, no bodies were thrown up, no wreckage definitely identified with the lost schooner was ever washed against the shore.

Yet over a century later, a china saucer recovered! Its blue, according to reports, had taken on a wonderfully deep shade, tinged with green, and was very beautiful.

The London and Edinburgh Shipping company bought the relic for about $50 of our money and gave that sum to the British Red Cross. The saucer was sent to the British museum.

"Imka"

"Imka" is the name by which the V. M. C. A. is known in Czechoslovakia. "Imka" is the reasonable pronunciation of those four letters in the language of the mid-European land. The Imka is very popular. When the republic of Czechoslovakia was established, its citizens who had returned from fighting with the allies urged that the Imka, with its canteens, bus service, athletics and recreation, be invited to come with them. The invitation was given and now the Imka has been developed on an army basis with centers in ten towns and is contemplating establishing a center in the famous coal mine region of Teschen, which is the bone of contention between the new republic and the Poles. As this new republic is said to hold the world's record for literacy, only 1 per cent being unable to read or write, the American "Y" secretaries find splendid co-operation in their activities.

Shark Meat Is Tasty.
Shark meat is delicate in flavor and texture, and sharks are plentiful in certain parts of Florida, but the fishermen do not catch them because they are not salable.

The home demonstration agent of Monroe county, Florida, decided last winter on an effort to establish in favor of this fish now under the ban. At her request a fisherman caught one, but warned her that no one would eat it. Undismayed, she invited a large company of women to a home economics luncheon, at which was served a fish salad.

When all had tasted the salad she asked for a vote as to how many liked and wanted the recipe. Without exception the women voted their hearty approval, and thus proved to themselves that the prejudice was without foundation. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Plea for Dogs.

The first week that Representative Venable of Mississippi was in congress a couple of years ago he made a hundred-and-fifty-word speech about a dog he used to own, and he still is getting letters telling him what a fine speech it was. The speech was a plea for preparedness, in which he pointed out that little dogs always are in hot water, but that mastiffs have only a minimum of difficulties and can enjoy afternoon siestas and such.

Unmanned Heroes.

Among the heroes of the war is the man who uncomplainingly goes with out the things to which he has been accustomed in order that he may quietly do his bit. Only a comparatively few of them ever get into the limelight, but in the scheme of patriotism they share honors with those who wear the uniform and shoulder the muskets. —Berkshire Eagle.

WAS IN DANGER OF SERIOUS ILLNESS

Jas. Duffy, of Pittsburgh,
Tells How Ten-Herbs
Relieved Him

"Little do we realize to what extent a seemingly slight illness might lead if neglected," said the Ten-Herbs man.

Take the case of Mr. James Duffy of No. 747 Reedsdale street, Pittsburgh, Pa., a boiler-maker by trade and a well-known member of the Union. He has a host of friends in that city having been a police officer in the First ward for a number of years. He states:

For a number of years I have had catarrh of the stomach and was in constant pain; had shortness of breath, acidity of the stomach, headaches, dizzy spells and severe pains around my heart, caused by gas in my system; I was always constipated, my liver was torpid and sluggish; I could never sleep at night and at times I could scarcely get my breath. I had taken a good many different medicines without any relief until I heard of Ten-Herbs and started to take it. Now I am glad to say I have no more indigestion—have a good appetite, sleep fine, and am not constipated. I feel that by taking Ten-Herbs in time I avoided a serious illness, as I was gradually getting worse all the time; I can't praise Ten-Herbs enough."

Ten-Herbs the new herbal stomach liver and kidney remedy, is perhaps doing more to relieve ills of this nature than any other preparation. It is the logical remedy to take, because being made of herbs, roots, barks and berries, it is pure and harmless and may be taken by old and young. Coming from mother earth, it is nature's own remedy—the kind our forefathers used to take. Ten-Herbs is sold in Charleroi at Henning's Drug Store.

WOMEN WORKERS

In almost every line of war activities the women of this country have done well and have taken front rank for doing work that released thousands of men for service overseas. Some women have been over-ambitious and, at the expense of their health, have filled places once occupied by men. Every woman who, because of overwork, has brought on some ailment peculiar to her sex, should depend upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore her health and strength, as this remedy is now recognized as the standard and has restored multitudes.

EXACTLY WHAT HE MEANT

Southerner Knew How to Word Advertisement to Produce the Desired Result.

No small amount of credit for the development of the short editorial paragraph to its present state of perfection belongs to Col. Emmet G. Logan, one-time fellow workman with "Marse" Henry Watterson, editor in chief of the Louisville Courier-Journal.

His brief, breezy paragraphs were as famous at Watterson's broadside one-page editorials. Colonel Logan used to contend he wrote what he meant and stopped only because "Marse" Henry had consumed all the editorial space and all the king's English; therefore, it was his power and pleasure to set forth with the scraps and as filler what "Marse" Henry had started out to say, but forgot.

When Colonel Logan washed printers' ink from his fingers he retired to the life of a country gentleman on a farm near Bowling Green, Ky. One day he appeared at the office of the local newspaper to insert an advertisement, and asked for a pad of paper. What he wrote was characteristic.

Wanted.—An ole nigger cook for a farm. No milkin. No washin. Nothin but cookin, eatin and sleepin. He got a cook.—Wall Street Journal.

HIGHEST TYPE OF COURAGE

Prisoner That Can Smile Is Truly Man
Without the Slightest Trace of "Yellow."

You have heard a great deal said about "the man who smiles," etc. At the risk of being found monotonous it might be added that the man who smiles and keeps on smiling, in prison, is worth some notice. If he isn't feeble-minded, he is game and gameness excites admiration in a dog. A grasshopper has it on the katydid forty ways. To keep a pleasant face in prison is simon-pure grit.

When a man gets down in the mouth, with only acid showing on his countenance, he makes war on himself.

Once upon a time a little middle-aged man was sent to prison. He was past middle age, and left behind him a lot more than a shattered fortune. Four nights he walked his cell and was four days and nights without sleep. Opiates were resorted to and he woke up with a smile. From that day to this he wears a smile wherever he goes, game as a pebble and without a yellow speck on him.

That is gilt-edge grit a bulldog couldn't beat. It is more than that; it is the refinement of human courage.—From the New Era, published at the federal penitentiary, Leavenworth, Kan.

Street Beggars in Rome.

An amusing anecdote of the old Rome of Papal days is told in Princess Lazarovich's "Pleasures and Palaces." "Passing the beautiful Palazzo Barberini, once the home of W. W. Story, the old American sculptor and poet," she writes, "I remembered an incident he told me in London.

"It was, it seems, at that time almost impossible for a man to pass through the streets of Rome without anything in his coat pocket and not miss it on returning home. The little Lazaroni thought it their right to see to that.

"Several times he and his friends tried to keep watch and surprise the operation at the instant of his performance, but in vain; the beggars were too sly and swift.

"One day Mr. Story cut a red silk bandanna into strips and left a tiny edge of it peeping out of his coat pocket as he and a friend started out.

"It was hardly a moment before a ragged, brown legged little imp ran in front of them, daunting the tattered bandanna in their faces and screaming angrily: 'Mean! Mean! Shame! Shame!'

Small Japanese Houses.

A number of causes have affected the size of the Japanese house, which seems much too small for a comfortable habitation in the eyes of a foreigner. In the first place, the people themselves are small, the average height of the Japanese male adult being five feet three and one-half inches. As it is the usual custom to sit on the floors upon cushions, with the legs bent beneath, great height of ceilings is not desirable. The low ceilings may be attributed to the lack of any heating systems other than the small charcoal brazier known as the "hibashi." The frequency of earthquakes throughout Japan has been a largely contributing cause as well, and the question of expense in a country where economy reigns supreme has also had a powerful influence.

Sulphuric Acid.

In recent years sulphuric acid has assumed such great importance in an industrial and commercial way that statistics showing its production are now given out annually by the United States Geological Survey. This material is probably used in a greater variety of ways in the chemical arts than any other substance. The most important classes of industry in which the consumption of sulphuric acid is involved are the manufacture of fertilizers, the refining of petroleum products, the iron, steel and coke industries, the manufacture of nitroglycerin, celluloid and similar products, and in general metallurgical and chemical practice.

PRECURSOR OF THE PIANO

Harpichord, in Arrangement of Keyboard and Strings, Resembled the Instrument in Use Today.

The harpichord was a stringed musical instrument in use in the 16th, 17th and 18th centuries, which in its form and in the arrangement of the keyboard and strings resembled a piano, but in which the tone was produced by the plucking or snapping of the strings by leather or quill points, which were set in jacks connected by levers with the keys. In form it usually resembled a modern grand piano-forte, though both square and upright varieties were also made. The length of the keyboard was four to six and a half octaves. The number of separate strings to a key varied from one to four, sometimes including one tuned an octave above the others; the latter variety was called a double harpichord. The tone was weak and tinkling, and gradation of force was impossible. Two keyboards were sometimes combined, one for soft effects, the other for loud. Numerous devices, usually connected with the jacks, were introduced at different times to secure variety in force, and especially in quality. These mechanisms, which often aimed to simulate the tone qualities of various orchestral instruments, were usually controlled by stopknobs near the keyboard. The harpichord, though essentially different from the pianoforte, was its immediate predecessor. Before 1800 it was regularly used in all dramatic music, especially in accompanying recitatives and in orchestral music. The conductor usually directed from his seat at a harpichord placed amid the other instruments.

WORK OF MONKS IN EXILE

Congregation of Armenian Christians Has Diffused Knowledge of Country's Language and Literature.

The Mechitarist monks are a small congregation of Armenian Christians who were exiled from their native land at the beginning of the eighteenth century. The church in Armenia had long been divided into bitterly hostile camps over the question of the nature of Christ, and when the Mechitarists entered into communion with the Church of Rome in 1712 the Armenian patriarch succeeded in driving them from the country. They took up their residence in the Morea, but they had again to flee before the advance of the conquering Turk, and in 1715 they established themselves in Venice, on the Island of San Lazzaro. Here they set up a printing press and gathered together a large and valuable library of oriental works. Their name is derived from Mechtar da Petro, who founded a religious society at Constantinople about the year 1700, and who aimed at uplifting the intellectual and spiritual conditions of his countrymen, and at diffusing a knowledge of the old Armenian language and literature. The colony of exiles during their sojourn in Venice has printed most of the classic writings in Armenian literature and translated the works of Eusebius, Philo and other writers.

Geography Sixty Years Old.

The rapid development of geography as a college study, since its first appearance in a university curriculum about half a century ago, is discussed by Prof. R. H. Whitbeck of the University of Wisconsin, in a recent article on "Geography in American and European Universities," published in the Journal of Geography. He points out the following interesting facts:

In 1860 Harvard and Princeton were the only American universities offering courses in geography.

Cornell and University of Wisconsin introduced the subject in 1868, and Yale followed in 1872. In 1900 only 12 American universities taught the subject, but by 1910 thirty-one universities were offering a variety of 142 courses.

With 704 students enrolled in geography, the University of Wisconsin led all others in 1910. With 1,069 enrolled in 1917, it led all others except the University of Pennsylvania. It now offers seven courses in physical and economic geography, climatology and other phases of the subject.

They were having a company sing in a "Y" building. The song leader, a lieutenant, asked if there was any particular song the men wished to sing.

The company funny boy, thinking to produce a laugh, yells out: "Let's sing Molly. Get the hammer, there's a fly on baby's head."

"Very well," said the lieutenant; "suppose you come up and sing it a few times, so that we may learn it." And, amid jeers of his companions, he was forced to get up before the company and sing that single line over and over again, making up the tune as he went.

Discard London Town Houses.

For hundreds of years members of England's wealthy class have maintained their splendid town houses in London. But today, with the perfecting of the automobile and the increased convenience of apartment and hotel, there is a growing tendency to break with tradition and maintain only the country home. This fashionable back-to-the-land movement is expected to have royal sanction, too, as the king and queen will use beautiful old Windsor castle, 25 miles from London, this season, much more than Buckingham palace, in the city.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

DON'T AVOID

THE TRUTH

LOOK STRAIGHT AHEAD NOW—

Don't allow yourself to remain in ignorance of the real seriousness of constipation. Ask your doctor what he thinks about it! Correct your trouble while it is just "trouble," and keep yourself free from the disastrous results that are so likely to follow neglected organs of the stomach and bowels. Start this very day to take one with your evening meal. Play safe with your health! Sold by Henning's Drug Store, Charleroi, Pa.

Attorney General Palmer says prices are tumbling and is surprised to learn that they have not been noticed in Pennsylvania. Well, the attorney general has been out of the state for some time, but if he lived in the old Keystone he would learn that prices here are still on the upward trend. For instance, 18-cent milk, an increase over last month.

Turkeys, it is said, will be scarce and high this year. That appears to be the normal status of the turkey market about this time every year.

Stage Driver Quite Willing to Accept "Keepers" Explanation as He Understood It.

The New Englander uses the word "natural" to describe one who was unfurnished at birth with the usual and indispensable quantity of brains. Prof. Burt G. Wilder, the distinguished zoologist, tells an amusing story that turns on a countryman's mistaking the unfamiliar word "naturalist" for the familiar word "natural."

A few years after his arrival in America, Agassiz was one of a small party of Harvard professors who traversed the White Mountain region in a carriage driven by the countryman. Three of them were vivacious, restless, and on the lookout for specimens. They would call a halt, leap from the vehicle before it stopped, dash over the fields, and return with prizes in their boxes, in their hands and pockets, and even panned upon their hats. The fourth, Prof. Felton, the brother-in-law of Agassiz, sat quietly in his corner of the carriage reading a favorite Greek author.

When the bewildered driver could stand it no longer he elicited from Felton information that led him to view the behavior of the others with compassionate toleration. At the close of the day he thus conveyed his interpretation to the innkeeper:

"I drove the queerest lot you ever saw. They chattered like monkeys. They wouldn't keep still. They jumped the fences, tore about the fields, and came back with their hats covered with bugs. I asked their keeper what ailed them; he said they were naturalists, and, judging from the way they acted, I should say they was."—Youths' Companion.

MUCH DIFFERENCE IN HUMOR

Brand Highly Thought Of in One Country Is Not Always Appreciated in Others.

When Coleridge said, "No mind is thoroughly well organized that is deficient in the sense of humor," he expressed a conviction that seems common to all civilized men, and makes each nation take pride in its humor and perhaps suspect that other nations enjoy a somewhat inferior brand. Yet comparisons of humor shows, broadly speaking, that the peoples of the world are much alike. In the Tourist, published in Tokyo, a Japanese author, for example, remarks that humor "is indeed the flower of life, and life without it would be as dreary as spring without its blossoms. To illustrate, he translates a number of Japanese anecdotes, "funny stories," as the United States might call them, but one does not smile over them. Neither, on second thought, does one smile over many of the "funny stories" in American magazines and newspapers. Humor which really amuses is everywhere rare and precious, a "flower of life," as the Japanese gentleman poetically puts it, but growing up in company with a great many weeds.—Christian Science Monitor.

I have heard that there is as much technique in the making of the bonnet of the olden pattern for the Friends as there is in the Japanese art of drinking tea. In Ohio there is a section that wears the Quaker garb with the bonnet; there is another in Iowa that still keeps to the characteristic costume; in New York in a settlement on both sides of Lake Caruga are Friends who follow the simple, historic fashion; and in Fairhope, Ala., a single tax settlement very largely settled by Friends, are others. Much importance is attached to what is called the "expression" of the bonnet. In the very simplicity there is quite as much room for the manifestation of a particular taste as in the more elaborate millinery of "the world's people." Even to half a hair things must be right. The finished product comes in for a close critical scrutiny at every possible angle. The true Friend abhors display and self-advertisement, and, therefore, she does not care to have it known when a fresh bonnet is bought. That is why each must be the same as the one that preceded it.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A storekeeper at Montgomery City has sprung a new one in the guessing game. He took a big rooster and, after letting him fast for a day, put him in his show window with a large pan of corn, the kernels of which had been counted.

He offered a prize to the persons guessing nearest the number of grains the rooster would eat in 20 minutes. The rooster had a ravenous appetite and for five minutes it looked as if there would not be a single kernel left.

But by the time the 20 minutes had elapsed he had curled up in a corner. He had succeeded in putting away 450 grains. A woman whose guess was 458 got the prize.—Kansas City Times.

Tombstone's Weird Stain.
In the village churchyard at Heronston, near Milford Haven, there is the grave of a young army officer (at one time stationed with his regiment at South Hook Fort, close by) who met death from a wound by a knife while playing a practical joke on a brother officer.

The tombstone, a marble cross, has become slightly discolored. One of the discolored areas has taken the almost perfect representation of a hand grasping a knife or dagger.—Cardiff Western Mail.

Camouflage Would Save Ship.

A submarine can spot a ship five miles away, estimate its course, submerge and later intercept it. But this ship might have a keel painted fifty feet down its side and the actual keel feathered out. This would give it the appearance of traveling in a course that was quite off the actual course. The calculations of the submarine would be quite wrong and the ship would not be intercepted at all. It would be saved by the deception of its camouflage.

Swan Songs.

According to Pliny ("Natural History") "Swans, a little before their deaths, sing most sweetly," and it is from this that the "swan-song" has acquired a figurative use—the last work of a poet or musician, composed shortly before his death. To the English people of Tennyson's declining days, "Crossing the Bar" was that poet's swan-song, even as the music of "Oberon" was the swan-song of Karl von Weber.

Hail of the Mariners.

It is said that it is customary for every English Christian sailor to hail any companion English vessel with the words, "494, sir." Immediately the reply is received, "6 farther on." The meaning of the signal is that in the sailor's hymnbook, 494 is Fanny Crosby's hymn, "Blessed Assurance, Jesus Is Mine," and 6 farther on, or No. 500, is "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."—The Christian Herald.

Rainy Day and Business.

Someone figured that a rainy day cost New York an unconscionable amount of money. Women, he explained, disbursed 85 per cent of the money earned by men. On rainy or dark days they remain indoors mostly. Store sales were curtailed, traffic reduced and nearly every class and character of business was affected adversely. Theaters, movie shows, ball games and general amusements suffered seriously.

In a Quandary.

A charming hostess, who was entertaining a party of children, discovered one little fellow sitting in a corner apparently lost in thought. "What are you thinking about, Harry?" "Mother told me not to take two oranges," piped the little man, "and I was thinking I would be mighty lucky if I got one."

"Immunity Bath."

In criminal trials, "immunity bath" means exemption from prosecution. The expression was first used several years ago, when several defendants in a trust case were discharged by the United States court on the ground that they had gained personal immunity by furnishing the evidence upon which the indictments were based.

Just a Suggestion.

Maybe this hint from the pen of Oscar Wilde will be found worth a moment's notice by the peace delegates: "As long as war is regarded as wicked it will always have its fascinations. When it is looked upon as vulgar it will cease to be popular."—Boston Transcript.

Flea in Amber.

The history of the flea would seem to go back many centuries, but the only fossil remains of a flea that have so far been found is a single insect in a bit of Baltic amber. The flea is admirably preserved by its semi-transparent surroundings, and is in the collection of Professor Clebs.

BOOK LOVERS IN TRANSPORT

Expect Literary Treasures to Be Unearthed From the Volumes Stored at Constantinople.

Some of the books of Livy undoubtedly will be found among the great number of volumes ascertained to be stored in crypts under the public buildings of Constantinople, but will the lost books of Livy be found?

The report that the long-awaited discovery is about to be made may rest on no better foundation than the vague impression of some uneducated Turkish under official. And, indeed, in the absence of any information whatever, on the subject, what more natural conjecture than that the lost historical works will be restored to the world when the vast collection of ancient books whose existence was previously unsuspected came to be examined?

Of the 35 books of Livy preserved to us out of 142, two are incomplete. Of the other 107 books the summaries remain, so that their contents are known. Their full text probably would not add so much to the sum of knowledge, but their recovery has been the dream of classicists for centuries. The occasional discovery of even a fragment in the Vatican or other libraries has been a sensation for scholars.

These tons and tons of books, which it was supposed the Turks burned during their conquests, but which, it appears, they took back to their capital, may increase stores of learning and make more definite our knowledge of particular men and particular periods. It is agreeable to think that forgotten authors of great merit and for gotten works of undisputed value will gain new recognition.

If the missing works of the Roman historian are among the volumes further cause will be given for congratulation over the Turkish downfall.—St. Louis Post Dispatch.

MAKE TROUBLE FOR DENTIST

Successful Treatment of Wisdom Teeth Always Is More or Less of a Problem.

Wisdom teeth, especially lower ones, are much more difficult to handle than any of the others in the mouth. When their nerve dies or has to be killed by the dentist he cannot be sure for some time that it is really dead. The reason is that the roots of a wisdom tooth, twisted or curved in such a manner that the root canal cannot be explored.

The upper wisdom teeth have three roots, frequently fused together, forming a grooved cone, which is usually curved backward," says Gray's anatomy. "The roots of the lower, two in number, are compressed together and curve backward."

It is this backward curving of the compressed roots that gives trouble to the dentist. Often the canal that runs through each root is so narrow and so curved that the finest of the "broaches" used to draw out the dead nerve will not penetrate, and sometimes when it has penetrated it will not come out.

When this happens there is only one thing to do—leave the broach and apply iodine, which will very soon eat away the steel of which the broach is made.

Las Vegas Has Future.

Las Vegas was founded by some Mexicans when New Mexico was a part of old Mexico, in 1835, and the Mexican government granted to the new community an area of some 400,000 acres. The Mexicans took up what they needed of this land and built a village in the middle of the settlement. It remained a sleepy Mexican town until some time in the seventies, when it was struck simultaneously by several Yankees and Jews, and by a wave of prosperity.

The Mexicans, who had been squatting on a part of the community grant, showed that they were capable of learning modern business methods by claiming the whole 400,000 acres. After a long contest the courts confirmed them in their titles to the lands they actually occupied, but decided that the rest of the area belonged to the community. And so it is today. This town owns great grazing areas, which are open to all citizens, and valuable timberlands. Ultimately Las Vegas will be rich and her people tax free.

The new doorkeeper at the museum has learned the book of rules by heart before taking over the job.

"Here, sir, you must leave your umbrella at the door," he said to a visitor who had failed to hand over that article.

"But I haven't an umbrella," the visitor pleaded.

"Then you must go back and get one," said the doorkeeper. "No one is allowed to pass in here unless he leaves his umbrella at the door."—Exchange.

Conso'ing.

Bobby—Grandpa, why do you look so sad?

Grandpa—Ah, my lad, I was just thinking, here I am seventy years of age and I have done nothing that is likely to make posterity remember me—nothing.

Bobby—Oh, well, don't worry, grandpa. Maybe you'll still have a chance to live in history as somebody's grandfather.

The Kind.

"What is your birthstone?" "Judging by the knicks I am always getting, from 1850, I should say it was a diamond."—

"Daddy Longlegs" Centuries Old.

All of us are well acquainted with the insect called "daddy longlegs," but not everybody knows that there is evidence to show that this strange little creature, towering high above its fellows on its threadlike stilts, is probably a more ancient inhabitant of America than any representative of the human species. Far back in tertiary times, at the very dawn of the modern world, its ancestors lived, we are told, in great numbers in that part of the continent which we call Colorado. The fossil remains of these insects show the characteristic features that mark them today, although new species have taken the place of the old, for even "daddy longlegs" knows what evolution is and has attained to something that, in his view, is perhaps a kind of civilized existence suitable to the exigencies of life in the twentieth century.

Where Martin Luther Begged.

Martin Luther sang in the streets of Magdeburg, along with other church choristers, for the bread and coins that citizens might bestow. This begging was the recognized means of support of the children of the "poor schools" attended by sons of peasants, who obtained free lodging at the hospices of the church, had free tuition, and were granted the privilege of singing for their meals. In return they were expected to sing in the choir of the church which supported their school. Modern Magdeburg is the capital of the Prussian province of Saxony. The city was well fortified. It is nearly ninety miles southwest of Berlin, lies mostly on the left bank of the Elbe, and is an important railway center.

Home of Pump Inventor.

Magdeburg was the home city of Otto von Guericke, inventor of the air pump, one of the few original inventions that can be credited to Germany despite the German fostered impression to the contrary. Students of physics will recall a principle of physics proved by what is often called the "Magdeburg experiment." Von Guericke is said to have demonstrated his discovery of the possibilities of the vacuum to Ferdinand III by clamping together two parts of a copper sphere, from which the air was then exhausted and hitching 15 horses to each hemisphere. The story that the horses could not pull the hemispheres apart may be an exaggeration, but the principle is sound.

First American Railroad.

Although America's railroad history is recorded as beginning when the Baltimore & Ohio laid its first rails in 1828, a pair of rusted strips of iron still visible in eastern Massachusetts tell of a pioneer transportation line whose inauguration antedated that event by two years. From the granite quarries of West Quincy the old road ran four miles to riderwater on the Neponset river, and carried granite for the building of the Bunker Hill monument. The rails, of hand-forged iron, two inches wide and three-quarter inch thick, were held by hand-forged spikes to the granite roadbed. Mules were the locomotives, assisted by a cable where the grade was heavy.

How Many Can You See?

When sunlight is broken up into its different rays the person of normal eyesight can tell six different colors. They are red, orange, yellow, green, blue and violet. A few persons can see a seventh color, an indigo blue. Color blindness begins with those who can see but five colors in the sun spectrum; they cannot identify an orange-colored light. The next point in color blindness is the confusion between blue and green lights. Color blindness becomes serious when a person confuses green and yellow, and there are those who even cannot distinguish red from green.

A well-known medical authority has advanced the theory that false teeth are often the cause of cancer. Where a set of teeth fits imperfectly, the constant abrasion on the gums causes, at first, the development of an area of congested tissue. In time this formation degenerates into an ulcerated state, which, although innocent enough in the beginning, may soon exhibit a rapid malignant transformation. The changes from a healthy structure of the gums to that of cancer moves on so insidiously in the early stages that frequently the condition, when recognized, is difficult to combat.

Few See World at Its Best.

It is indeed marvellous to consider how few are the people who get up early in the morning. If we leave out the milkman and the farmer, we might say that nobody knows it is daytime until the sun has risen far on its course. Every hour of all the 24 has a charm of its own. Night is very beautiful and so is noon time. But there can be no doubt at all that the world is more beautiful at the dawn of day than at any other time.—Los Angeles Times.

VICTORIAN ERA WORTH WHILE

Deserved Rebuke for Those Who Smile at Epoch Which Had Many Good Points.

Why do the heathen rage against the Victorian epoch? Men who lived through a great part of it found it exciting, interesting, amusing and sometimes terrible. Talleyrand once said that nobody could understand the real delights of society unless he had lived before the French revolution. Similarly, what young person, or near-young person, of today can experience the delights of the time when it was possible to begin at ease the first chapter of a volume of Dickens or Thackeray, to wait impatiently for George Eliot's new novel or even to bear the shock of Robert Buchanan's famous review of Sturges-Bourne? There were, too, the terrors occasioned by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe when her fierce Puritan friendship induced her to print the confessions of Lady Byron! Our eyes were turned towards England, it is true, yet Hawthorne and Emerson were not only discussed, but read. Among the lesser lights there were Gail Hamilton and James Fields, whose very satisfying literary essays were great features of the Atlantic Monthly. People, too, in the United States, in reading "Uncle Tom's Cabin" or in reading "Onida" on the sly, nor did all the women dress in the magenta and solferino in which contemporary satirists clothed the ladies of the middle periods of Victoria and Eugenie. The Crimean and Civil wars, so microscopic to the careless young, the Franco-Prussian struggle which produced the chaos of 1914, were events that kept our minds from stagnating; and there were doers and thinkers in Europe worth our constant consideration.—Maurice Francis Egan in Yale Review.

FORGOT PROMISE TO CLIENT

Eminent Lawyer Talked Altogether Too Freely Over His Whisky and Soda at the Club.

Sir Thomas Lipton spoke in a Y. M. C. A. address in New York about honor among business men. "Too many business men," he said, "fall from honor thoughtlessly. They are like an eminent divorce lawyer whom I overheard one night prattling over his whisky and soda at the club. 'Yes,' said the eminent lawyer, 'she's a very beautiful woman. Nervous, of course—of course very nervous just now. So I said to her gently, as soon as I'd sent my secretary out of the room: "Now, my dear lady, I know in these cases there are many little details which a woman of your position and refinement is most reluctant to divulge. But it is necessary, if our case is to succeed, that I be fully acquainted with all you have had to suffer. Of course you will understand that what you tell me will never go beyond the four walls of this room. I shall regard your confidence as absolutely sacred, and you need have no hesitation in revealing all for you may be sure that no other human being will ever learn from me the details of your troubles." Well, that gave her more confidence, of course, and gentlemen, this is what she told me."

London and the Birds.

After the news from Strasbourg that the storks have returned with the end of the war to the old Alsatian city, and are to be seen daily, as in time past, pluming themselves in the Place de Broglie, comes the news from London that one of the unusual features of this first spring after the war is the presence of the beautiful larger birds in the English capital. So writes a correspondent of the Observer, of London. "On the fringes," he says, "kestrels are now quite common, and in many places you may see their wonderful flight. The handsome jays betray their presence in many wooded gardens that knew them not, by their screech, or the white flash of their wings; sparrow-hawks and carrion crows are coming to be common; and even the magpie has been seen where for years he has been unknown." And now that they have come, no doubt some way will be found of so convincing them of their welcome that they will come again.

Every now and again, it is given to some man somewhere to utter a "heaven-sent phrase," which brings with it instant and almost startling illumination on a question, where long columns of explanation and long moments of eloquence might utterly fail. Such a phrase came from Josephus Daniels, the secretary of the United States navy, the other day, in the course of one of his speeches in England. "No Englishman," declared Mr. Daniels, "has more claim to Rynmede than I."—Christian Science Monitor.

Tunnel Through the Pyrenees.

The rigors of mountain weather, opposition from the national ministries of war, and a difference in gauge have all united in the past to prevent an effective joining of French and Spanish railways, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Work on the project has been carried on since 1914, however, and it is now announced that a new tunnel from Ax, in France, to Puigcerda, on the Spanish side, has been broken through, and will cement this desirable union more firmly.

Not So Equal.

"Don't you like to get back to nature where all men are equal?" "Yes, but it doesn't always work out that way. Summer cottagers are inclined to snub the campers."

Old-Time Drinking Vessels.

Wine was first drunk out of the mazer bowl, made of light maplewood, highly polished, and afterward out of a bugle horn. Silver bowls were next introduced and about the time when Queen Elizabeth's son was setting vessels made of Venetian glass first made their appearance at state banquets. Beer was usually carried from the cellar to the table in the eighteenth century in large leathern tankards, called "blackjacks," lined with silver or provided with a silver rim.

Gate for Stairs.

Procure a piece of heavy canvas and hem to fit the required space; sew a snap hook to each corner. Place two screw eyes on each side of the hall, one as near the floor as possible, the other in the width of the canvas from lower one. The canvas is readily snipped in place on the screw eyes, forming an effective gate. With a screw in the banister the gate can be snapped out of the way when the kiddies are in bed.

Rubber Preservative.

A preparation that may be used for preserving rubber may be made by getting a saturated solution of turpentine in denatured alcohol. The point of saturation is known by a drop of undissolved turpentine remaining in the alcohol. A little more alcohol is added to dissolve this drop and the solution is saturated. Rubber articles should be occasionally painted or swabbed with this solution.

Carp Honored in Japan.

Even in Japan the jellyfish is in ill repute, since that creature, once a boned fish like the carp, was beaten to a jelly by his king because he allowed himself to be gulled and outwitted by a monkey. But the carp is honored and sunn, and every Japanese boy looks forward to the day he may, if called on, meet the chopper with the same stolid behavior.—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

Charles James Fox.

Charles James Fox was one of the progressives of English politics, as well as one of the most brilliant orators and statesmen in the history of England. Like most thinking people of his day, he favored freedom of the American colonies and was constantly in opposition to the German-king, George III, who was then sitting on the English throne.

The treatment for nervous disorders is diversion. Attention transferred and directed into new channels, new friends, new faces, new scenes, new habits, changed sleeping rooms, new rations, everything radically altered and wholly different will in time relieve almost all such conditions.

Making It a Family Affair.

Junior was much interested in his mother's approaching marriage. A short time before the date set for the wedding his mother was ill with tonsillitis. Junior was in distress and going to his mother he said: "Mother, hurry up and get married, for it won't do for you to be sick when we marry Richard."

Are sticks really cross, and, if so, why should two sticks be particularly cross? Hold the two sticks before you to form the letter N or the cross. It is from this rather cheap trick and poor pun that we derive the expression that a person is as cross as two sticks.

Venerable American City.

ALLIES MAY WANT TO KNOW

Likely to Ask for Facts Concerning Condition of the Famous German War Chest.

In the days before the war the castle of Spandau, some eight miles north-west of Berlin, was famous as the official repository of the German war chest. In the Julius tower of the castle was stored some 120,000,000 marks in gold, the money being part of the war indemnity paid by France in 1871. There it was kept "for the purpose of immediate use in case of war." What happened to this gold reserve in 1914 is not known, but an interesting sidelight is thrown on the great treasure chest by the account which has just come to hand from a Berlin describing how some 200,000 marks were recently abstracted from the "vaulted at Spandau" during the disturbances which followed the signing of the armistice. The money, which was part of the amount hurriedly removed from Roumania when that country was evacuated, was lodged in the castle "because there was no room for it in the Julius tower." Now, what the outside world is interested to know is: Was this Roumanian money crowded out of the Julius tower because the Julius tower was already filled to overflowing with specie? To be sure it was a large sum that claimed admission, no less than 200,000,000 marks, but then anyone who knows the Julius tower knows that it is a large place.

PROVED GOOD TO AUTOIST

Woman Who Dev sed Magnetized Screwdriver Calls It Her Most Valued Helper.

"I magnetized a screwdriver by holding it close to a dynamo for a few minutes, nearly two years ago, and it is still my most valued helper when it is necessary for me to do repair work on my car," writes Ethel Webb, in the Electrical Experimenter.

"It is a great help when working around the car to have this magnetized screwdriver to pick up screws and small pieces of the machinery which drop down inside, out of my reach."

"In setting screws it is invaluable; simply pick up the screw by touching the head with the magnetized screwdriver, and it may instantly be set in place with only one hand. It does away entirely with the annoyance of the screw slipping away and getting lost, as it so often does. I always carry it in the tool box, and find the other fellow appreciates it when I find his screwdriver troubles on some lonely bit of road."

Magazing Syringe.

Among the war inventions that probably will prove valuable in peace time is a magazine hypodermic syringe that may be used 20 times without refilling. Obviously its chief merit is that of convenience when physicians and surgeons are working under fire and in dark dugouts where continual recharging of syringes entails difficulty and retards operations.

The instrument is supplied with a platinum needle which permits sterilization in a flame. The cap that protects it, when not in use, is kept filled with iodine or alcohol. When large numbers of persons are being inoculated with typhoid serum, for instance, an instrument such as the magazine syringe evidently saves much time.

Roosevelt at Panama.

President Roosevelt visited Panama in 1906, and it was the first time a President of the United States found it "advisable to step on territory not beneath the flag of the United States." The custom was that the president should not leave the country during his term of office, but there is no law about it. President Roosevelt went to Panama on this occasion to visit and inspect the site of the Panama canal. He did not visit Europe during his term of office, but at its close on returning from his hunting trip in Africa.

"The greater proportion of people are born healthy and their way of living makes them sick," says a bulletin of the Indiana state board of health. "The people of America are only 50 per cent efficient on account of ill health and disease. Apparently our population is 100,000,000; actually it is only 50,000,000. This is the result of wrong feeding, cranky immolation, not enough air and sunshine, impure and insufficient water drinking; alcohol, caffeine and nicotine addiction, and our awful and absurd use of drugs and patent medicines."

Hawaiians Dying Out.

According to Prof. Vaughn MacCauley of the College of Hawaii, the Hawaiian race is rapidly becoming extinct. This disappearance of "one of the finest physical types known in the history of the human race" is due to the introduction by white men of alcohol, plague, measles, leprosy, tuberculosis, pneumonia and the most terrible of blood diseases, none of these having been known in Hawaii before the advent of the white man.

Electric Lighting.

There are 8,000,000 homes in this country lighted by electricity and 14,800,000 lighted by other means. A few homes in the latter class are wired, but are not connected to any electric service. It is estimated that in the homes lighted by electricity there are 125,000,000 sockets containing improved lamps, 25,000,000 sockets containing carbon lamps and 11,000,000 empty sockets.

AUTO HIT BY CAR; BADLY DAMAGED

Sunday evening while returning from Pittsburg to Monessen, H. Dallas McCabe met with a misfortune with his Cole touring car. In the car with him were three other Monessen men and on the Hill Down through Clairton they broke a front axle of the car when attempting to cross the street car track. While McCabe was at a nearby garage seeking help to remove the car from the car track a trolley car came down the hill at a wild rate of speed and crashed into the rear of his machine, setting fire to the gasoline in the tank from the electric controller. The automobile was knocked quite a distance by the impact and almost consumed by the fire. An effort was made to flag the trolley car, but its speed was too fast and the accident resulted.

TO MAKE HIS HOME IN LOS ANGELES

John Sempf, a veteran of the Civil war, and who has been a resident of Charleroi almost since the founding of the town, left on the 5 o'clock train this morning on his way to Los Angeles, California, where he will spend the remainder of his days with his sister. Prior to his departure a number of his comrades gathered at the health office last evening, from where they adjourned to the Stevenson confectionery. Mr. Sempf was the guest of honor and after refreshments had been served the party adjourned to the home of S. B. Crawford, where the evening was spent by the veterans in story telling and reminiscences. Mr. Sempf had made his home with the family of J. M. Fleming and during his active days was a foreman for contractors. He was in charge of the work of construction when the street railway line was put through Charleroi.

MORE ACTIVITY AT DONORA MILLS

Reports from Donora this morning say that rod mills Nos. 1 and 2, blast furnace No. 1 and eight open hearth furnaces are now in full complete operation. Over 1,400 men are reported as being at work, with the force being augmented daily. The Steel and Wire mills are operating every day and anticipate no difficulty from this time on in keeping the steel and wire plants in operation. There has been no disturbance of any kind during the week.

MAY ATTACK READY- TO-SERVE RATES

According to the Donora Herald there has been considerable complaint in that town on account of the "ready to serve" charge of the West Penn Power company, which is declared by many to be nothing more nor less than robbery of the people under the guise of a charge which is said not to be justified under the circumstances.

The Herald offers to begin a campaign against this charge, provided the people are willing to go along and lend their support. It will likely be along the same lines as used in the campaign at the time the Greensboro Gas company endeavored to add a compulsory charge of 50 cents per month for being ready to serve and which the company finally withdrew when the people took measures to bring action against them before the Public Service Commission.

The health department reports two additional cases of diphtheria on Wednesday, which make a total of eight so far this season. A majority of these cases will be discharged before the week is over.

COMPULSORY NON-SUIT WAS ALLOWED

Judge E. H. Reppert of the Fayette County courts on Tuesday afternoon, sustained a motion for a compulsory non-suit in the case of Domeneck Santelli of New Kensington, formerly of Belle Vernon, against the American Window Glass company. Santelli asked for $5,000 damages for injuries sustained in 1914 in an accident while employed as a laborer at the Belle Vernon glass factory. He alleged that his injuries resulted from a lack of proper precautions by the company officials and that they were of a permanent character. He appeared in court with a slight limp.

The committee of the American Jewish Relief Fund wish to thank Mrs. Harry Burkhardt of Lock No. 4 for her efforts in bringing that community over the top in this campaign.

DONORA POLICE RAID ALL SLOT MACHINES

Immediate removal of all slot machines, punch boards and other gambling devices from restaurants pool rooms and other places in Donora was ordered on Wednesday by the borough police. Some 20 or 40 places were affected by the order and it is estimated that between $5,000 and $10,000 worth of machines were taken.

The orders for the removal or confiscation of slot machines were issued following instructions from District Attorney Isaac W. Baum. There has been complaint of late of the numerous gambling devices in operation in Donora and the apparent indifference of the authorities to them. The hotel men and the ministerial alliance both, it is understood, have made complaint regarding the matter.

NEW BOAT IS NOW IN COMMISSION

The steamer Warren Elsey of the Vesta Coal company, and built for service on the Monongahela by the Dravo Construction company, has entered the trade, after a number of changes were made in her machinery. The boat is of all-steel construction and has many new features not embodied in other steamers.
